

SENIOR CARE TRANSITION & OPTIONS CHART

Hospital/Urgent Care

Living at home quietly enjoying life and suddenly the unexpected happens (fall, stroke, dementia....) In these urgent situations the hospital is typically the first line of defense. Unfortunately, though, hospitals try to send people along as quickly as it is safe and possible... follow the arrows to understand what happens if a person is not safe to return home right away...

NURSING HOME or SKILLED NURSING FACILITY (SNF) or POST-ACUTE REHABILITATION CENTER... (HINT: They all mean the same thing) This is a short term stay for physical therapy and nursing care – see next options from here below...

Home-Health & Hospice

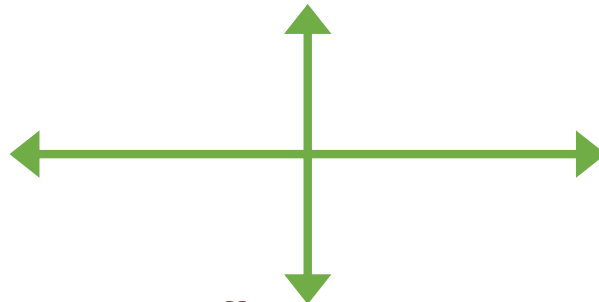

Medical care agencies covered by insurance that will provide continuing medical services (PT, nursing, etc...) after discharge from hospital or nursing home regardless of resident's location...

Long-term care in a nursing home covered by Medicaid...

WHAT COMES NEXT??

In-Home Care

Going back home and bringing private duty caregivers into your home. Typically, through a home care agency - anything from personal care to laundry and more...

Board & Care Homes

Basically, a combination of in-home care and assisted living. This style of care brings personalized home-like living with around the clock care (maximum 6 total residents with two caregivers around the clock to meet residents every care need) ...

Independent/Assisted Living Facilities

Resort style senior-living that provides everything from restaurant style dining to activities and outings to handling all personal care needs...